Hippo has installed a highly interactive water play area at Brean Leisure Park, based around a multi-level play platform feature. Four platform levels incorporate high and low level features to cater for a wide range of age and ability groups and allow play both on poolside and within the indoor pool. Features include themed showers, tipping buckets, water wheels and spray rails. An interactive mast provides surprise and anticipatory excitement and provides big splash play with its large tipping bucket and splash board. Children can exit the play platform via one of Hippo's exhilarating slides. A multi slide will provide great competitive play amongst children racing each other to see who can splash into the pool first. A single lane tube slide with special visual effects will add to the excitement.

A Splash Battle featuring squirting cannons enables children to aim and shoot water at a selection of targets, including a water wheel which then splashes the water onto those in the pool below it.

Finally a Splash Zone for toddlers and less water confident children focuses on sensory and low level play. Features include interactive play panels, interactive channels, short masts, a spray hoop and a water web. These features will promote tactile play and enable children to manipulate the flow of the water coming from these features. Two bright and vibrant slides dedicated to toddlers complete the Splash Zone.
